Who We are

Greeley-Weld Habitat for Humanity is part of a global, nonprofit housing organization operated on Christian principles that seek to put God's love into action by building homes, communities, and hope. Greeley-Weld Habitat for Humanity is dedicated to eliminating substandard housing locally and worldwide through constructing, rehabilitating and preserving homes; by advocating for fair and just housing policies; and by providing training and access to resources to help families improve their shelter conditions. Habitat for Humanity was founded on the conviction that every man, woman, and child should have a simple, durable place to live in dignity and safety, and that decent shelter in decent communities should be a matter of conscience and action for all.

Greeley-Weld Habitat for Humanity has an open-door policy: all are welcome to apply for homeownership and help with the work, regardless of race, color, religion, age, creed, national origin/ancestry, sex/gender, disability/handicap, sexual orientation, marital status, familial status, political views or any of the other distinctions that too often divide people.

In short, Habitat welcomes applicants, volunteers, and supporters from all backgrounds and also serves all people meeting the program qualifications in need of decent housing. As a matter of policy, Habitat for Humanity International and its affiliated organizations do not proselytize. This means that Habitat will not offer assistance on the expressed or implied condition that people must either adhere to or convert to a particular faith, or listen and respond to messaging designed to induce conversion to a particular faith.

Why Women Build

Living in a rundown apartment can feel like being on a wild rollercoaster, especially when rent suddenly goes up. A lot of folks are on the lookout for safer and more affordable places to live, often moving in with family or friends just to get by. Keeping up with monthly mortgage payments can be really stressful.

Women Builds is all about bringing women in the community together to pitch in and help build homes for families who need it. For these families, finding affordable housing can really change their lives and create new opportunities.

This volunteer initiative is meant to empower women by giving them a hands-on experience and showing how their hard work makes a difference in the community. Right now, women make up only 1% of all plumbers, concreters, roof tilers, bricklayers, and carpenters. This event invites women from all over Weld County to pick up a hammer and tackle the pressing need for safe and affordable housing.
